Astronomical Characters Explained.

At head of the page, for each calendar month, will be found a figure, representing the Sign of the Zodiac, into which the Sun enters during the month, according to the seasons, which begins with Pisces, the Fishes, on the 20th of March, the Vernal Equinox.

Signs of the Planets, &c.

5. ☽ Cancer.	Breast.	11. ☽ Capricornus.	Knees.
6. ☾ Leo.	Heart.	12. ☽ Aquarius.	Legs.

To KNOW WHERE THE SIGN IS.—First find the day of the month, and against it, in the 7th column, stands the sign the moon is in; then finding the sign here, it shows the part of the body it is supposed to govern.

NOTES TO THE READER.

CLOCK TIME AND APPARENT TIME.

1st.—There are two kinds of time used in common Almanacs for the Sun's rising and setting: one is clock-time, and the other is sun-time, or apparent time. Clock-time is always correct; but apparent time varies every day, and is alternately too "fast" or too "slow" of the clock. The Sun and Clock agree on the 15th of April and June, September 1st, and December 24th. Noon and 12 o'clock are not the same.

The irregularity of the Sun's motions causes the two kinds of time, and, in consequence of this variation, no dependence can be placed on the Sun for true time without knowing where it is in the meridian. This information we give for this Almanac. See the Sun in Meridian, at the head of each Calendar page.

To make the calculations for this Almanac, the publisher had to obtain, through the friendly agency of a mercantile house of this city, the British Nautical Almanac for 1863, and with aid of a nautical instructor, give it as the best that can be obtained for these States.

Some omission in the rising and setting of Stars was unavoidable for want of time. 2d.—The rising, and setting of a star, may be carried several days backwards, by adding, or forwards, by subtracting four minutes per day.

3d.—As the days end at midnight, the rising, and setting of the Moon when after that time, will be found in the morning of the succeeding day, &c:

4th.—The times given for High Water are for that tide which succeeds the Moon's passage over the Meridian. The winds will vary the tides.

Latitude of St. Michael's Church,	32° 46' 33" North.
Longitude do do	79° 57' 27" West.

THE SEASONS.

Vernal Equinox, March 20, 3h 25m ev.	Autumnal Equinox, Sep. 23, 2h 8m mo.
Summer Solstice, June 21, 0h 01m mo.	Winter Solstice, Dec. 21, 8h 2m ev.

A method to ascertain whether the Tide is rising or falling by the Moon—Whenever the Moon is West of Meridian it is ebb tide, and when East of Meridian it is flood tide.

ANNEXED IS A TABLE

Showing the Parashoth (portions of the Pentateuch,) which are read in the Synagogue on the Saturdays during this year. When Festivals, however, fall on a Saturday, the regular Parasha is not read, but the appropriate portion for that particular Feast.

I. JANUARY, begins on Thursday, hath 31 days. 1863.

Sow peas, spinach, lettuce, cabbages, radishes, parsley, beets, carrots, salsify, parsnips, turnips, asparagus. Plant horse radish, Irish Potatoes. Transplant cabbages and lettuce. REMARKS.—The best variety of peas for this month, are the early frame and Bishops, for an early crop, and drawf marrowfat and drawf green imperial for a succession. The lutes, cabbages and radishes should be protected, the last may be sown between rows of carrots, or spinach. Celery earthed. Endive tied up. Dress artichoke and asparagus beds.

II. FEBRUARY, begins Sunday, hath 28 days. 1863.

Sow peas, spinach, lettuce, cabbage, radish, corn, beets, carrots, salsify, parsnips, turnips, thyme, sage and other herbs. Plant Irish potatoes. Transplant cabbages and lettuces. REMARKS — The same varieties of peas may be sown in this month, as were directed for the last. The principle crop of beets and carrots should now be sown. The common varieties of spinach should be sown in small quantities once in ten days, as it soon runs to seed.

V MAY, begins on Friday, hath 31 days. 1863.

Sow cabbages, beets, savoys, carrots, turnips, cauliflower, broccoli, celery, radishes. Plant snap-beans. Transplant cabbages. Prick out celery. REMARKS There is not much probability of either beets, parsnips, carrots, turnips succeeding at this season, especially the last, yet if wanted, a few may be ventured—under very favorable circumstances they may succeed. If carrots be sown, the ground should be shaded and kept moist, and this protection continued for some time after they are up, or they will be killed by sun.

VI. JUNE, begins on Monday, hath 30 days. 1863

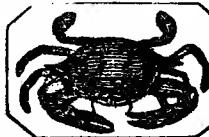

Sow cauliflower, broccoli, cabbages, carrots, tomatoes. Plant snap-beans, okra. Transplant celery, cabbages, leeks. Prick out cauliflower, broccoli and celery. REMARKS.—This month is generally very dry and hot, and all of the crops recommended to be sown now, must be protected from the sun, most of them should have been sown in April, and in my opinion that they should be now sown.

VII. JULY, begins on Wednesday, hath 31 days. 1863.

 Sow early Dutch turnips, ruta baga, carrots, parsnips, cabbages, cauliflowers, brocoli, endive, radishes, spinach. Plant snap-beans, Irish potatoes, melons. Transplant cabbages, celery, cauliflowers, brocoli, tomatoes, and leeks. REMARKS.—A few carrots, parsnips, spinach or radishes, should be sown, and while young, should be protected from the sun. The early Dutch turnips, should be sown in small quantities towards the last of the month. The Irish potatoes will be fit for use in October, and tomatoes when the spring sown crop ceases.

VIII. AUGUST, begins on Saturday, 31 days. 1863.

Sow peas, early Dutch and other varieties of turnips, ruta baga, onions, cabbages, cauliflowers, broccoli; black Spanish radishes, radishes, carrots, beets, parsnips, salsaify, lettuce and endive. Plant snap beans. Transplant cabbages, cauliflowers, broccoli, celery, ruta baga and endive. REMARKS.—Not much can be expected from pea sown in this month, as they will be very much crippled by the high winds and rain. The beets and spinach are liable to the attacks of the worms, which destroy their leaves, they may be very fine.

IX. SEPTEMBER, begins Tuesday, hath 30 days. 1863.

Sow early Dutch and other varieties of turnips, ruta baga, beets, Swiss chard, mangle wurtzel, carrots, parsnips, salsafy, lettuce, spinach, cabbages, (English seed,) onions, radishes, endive. Plant snap-beans. Transplant ruta bagas, cabbages, cauliflower, brocoli, celery, lettuce, leeks, endive.

REMARKS.—In this month, the principal crops of turnips, beets, carrots, parsnips, &c., should be sown, as they will acquire sufficient strength to withstand the cold weather before the winter sets in. When thinning out the ruta baga, the plants should be reserved and transplanted out into these spaces, where they have failed.

Commercial Statistics of the Northern and Southern States.

The exports of the Northern and Southern States stand thus:

Exports of Northern products.....	$ 97,346,973
"    Southern products.....	218,895,450
"    gold and silver coin.....	26,033,578
"    gold and silver bullion.....	30,913,173

Total exports for 1860 ..... $ 73,189,174

It thus appears that though the North is twice as numerous as the South yet the South furnishes more than twice the capital. These exports are carried abroad and exchanged for goods, wares and merchandise, which constitute our imports. In 1860 they amounted to $362,166,254. Of this amount the official tables show that there was imported,

Into Southern ports,..... $ 40,585,368

Into Northern ports,..... 321,580,886

It is believed the South sends annually to the North produce to the value of two hundred millions of dollars. Assuming this to be correct the account will stand thus:

Goods imported through Northern ports, in exchange for

Southern products,.....	$ 218,895,450
Produce sent directly North.....	200,000,000

Total ..... $ 418,895,450

As we buy as much from the North as we sell there, the trade between the two sections is double this, or $837,790,900 annually. This shows the advantages enjoyed by the North, growing out of the peculiar course of trade between the two sections. The advantage the North obtains by the tariff laws is very considerable. Of duties on goods imported in 1860—$279,872,337—the average tariff was 20 per cent. Of this amount, $115,000,000 were imported in exchange for Northern products, and $164,000,000 in exchange for Southern products—the former yielding 23 millions of revenue, and the latter 32 millions. It thus appears that the South contributes three-fifths of the revenue from imports, and yet in the disbursement of the revenues, at least three-fifths are expended in the North. If such is the unequal operation of a revenue tariff, it would be difficult to estimate the injustice of the protective tariff now in operation in the Northern government.

We will recapitulate the substantial benefits derived by the North from the course of commercial dealings established by the Union.—The following figures exhibit the annual profits made by the North upon Southern products:

For freights from Europe ..... $40,000,000

For profits on foreign imp'd goods sold to Southern M'chts. 30,000,000

For increased tariff prices on No'r'n. manufactures sold South, 60,000,000

Total profits ..... $130,000,000

It is not in the power of figures to convey to the mind a correct idea of the advantage which the North has enjoyed over the South, under the influence of the various laws which have stimulated and controlled the employment of capital. Many Southern men saw and protested against the unequal and unjust operation of the system of legislation, which was enriching one section at the expense of the other.—Mr. Kettell estimates that 50,000 Southerners go North every year, average $1000 each, making fifty millions per annum. Besides amount expended in the education of sons and daughters. He comes to the conclusion that the South pays annually to the North, for interest, brokerage, insurance, travel, &c. 115 millions. If this be added to the 130 millions, before estimated as commercial profits, it yields the sum of 245 millions, derived annually by the North from her union with the South.—Compiled from the Vicksburgh Almanac of 1862.

The actual rise of the Tides depends on the strength and direction of the wind, and it not unfrequently happens that a Tide which would, independently of these, have been small, is higher than another, otherwise much greater. But when a Tide which arrives when the Sun and Moon are in favorable position for producing a great elevation, is still further increased by a very strong wind, the rise of the water will be uncommonly great, sufficient perhaps, to cause damage.

The interval called the Establishment of the Port, is the time which elapses between the southing of the Moon and the High Water, at a time when the Sun and Moon are both South at the same time. Now as the Establishment of the Port, if it were known, would enable us to find the time of high water at any time; so from a good Observation at the time of high water at any time, we can determine the Establishment of the Port. For many of our principal ports we have arrived at a close approximation in this respect. For Boston, 11h 7m. is now used as the Establishment of the Port; for New York, 8h 9m.; for Charleston, 7h 2m., &c.

The Table above, is corrected from the Official Tide Table, published by A. D. Bache, Superintendent United States Coast Survey. But only those ports, or places, indicated by an asterisk (*) are corrected.—The others remain as they have been for a long time, and are supposed to be nearly correct.
